Hidden away in the rugged Osage Hills of northeastern Oklahoma, Woolaroc was established in 1925 as the ranch retreat of oilman Frank Phillips. The ranch is a 3,700 acre wildlife preserve, home to many species of native and exotic wildlife, such as buffalo, elk and longhorn cattle. Woolaroc is also a museum with an outstanding collection of western art and artifacts, Native American material, one of the finest collections of Colt Firearms in the world, and so much more.

With its wildlife preserve, rustic lodge, outstanding museum and rugged natural environment, perhaps the vision of Woolaroc can best be summed up in Frank Phillips’ own words: ‘This isn’t all a dream about something, but a place where I can get back to nature. The great difficulty with the American people today is that they are getting too far away from the fundamental things in life. Too much time and money are spent on things which leave no record and which add nothing basically to the present nor to the future. To build permanently and wisely is to benefit all mankind. The conservation of wildlife now will mean much to future generations.’

Woolaroc embodies the natural environment, cultural heritage, history and early values that made America great. It is a diverse and unique experience.

The name Woolaroc is derived from three words—the woods, lakes and rocks that make up the beautiful Osage Hills of northeast Oklahoma where Woolaroc is located. The name was originally intended for the Rustic Lodge Ranch House, but it was so unique that it soon became the name for the entire Frank Phillips ranch. (Apt. 18-3)

Woolaroc has something for everyone. Will Rogers once said, 'When you are visiting the beauty spots of this country, don’t overlook Frank Phillips’ ranch and game preserve in Bartlesville, Okla. It’s the most unique place in this country.' If there is one last undiscovered treasure left in the United States, it surely must be a place called Woolaroc.

Visit Woolaroc to experience the American West, the traditions that defined such a heroic era and become a part of the history that continues to live on these grounds. The Woolaroc Museum presents a comprehensive collection of art that showcases the forgotten glory of the American West. An endless array of paintings and sculptures, many from Frank Phillips’ (founder of Phillips Petroleum) personal collection, reveals the trying history of Oklahoma pioneers, outlaws and Indians, and how they sculpted our great state. Visitors may experience the historic lodge home, explore walking trails, visit the petting barn, and view native and exotic wildlife including buffalo, elk, zebra, water buffalo, deer, and more! Additionally, Woolaroc is on the National Register of Historic Places. For more information about Woolaroc, view the Woolaroc website at http://www.woolaroc.org/index.php.

Woolaroc’s Wonderland of Lights

This year for the holidays, Woolaroc presents a Wonderland of Lights on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from 5-9 pm. Adults and children will enjoy Christmas lights, a visit with Santa Claus in the museum, free wagon rides, a special lights show and Christmas music provided by local choirs. Cookies and hot drinks will be served for a small fee.
A note from the FGSH Coordinator

Congratulations to all our residents who are graduating! Our best wishes go with you as you move toward your next goal. Please remember that December graduates who are not continuing studies at OSU must vacate their apartment no later than Monday, Dec. 19, 2011. Remember that your housing contract requires that you give a vacating notice at least one month in advance, so be sure to submit the appropriate paperwork in Iba Hall. Also, be sure to add or delete anyone from your contract who is new or who has left your apartment. We cannot provide entrance assistance to anyone not on your contract. The time for the holidays is upon us. For those of you who are decorating your apartment for the holidays, please remember that candles, ‘live’ Christmas trees and ‘live’ garland are not permitted in the apartments due to fire regulations. Finally, the FRC staff have planned several fun and exciting holiday festivities for you. I hope that you will join us for our community holiday celebration ‘Christmas Around the World’ on Saturday, December 10 from 6-9pm. If you have never attended this event before, I believe you will find it a great time to meet your neighbors and experience Christmas traditions as they are celebrated all over the globe. For those of you that have attended this event before, I think you will enjoy the new traditions we have planned!

Also, we are continuing the tradition of taking residents to see Christmas lights—this year, we are planning to return to the Wonderland of Lights at Woolaroc Museum and Wildlife Preserve in Bartlesville, Okla. on Sunday, Dec. 18. This is the same place we went last year for the Tour of Lights, and we are returning at your request!

We want to wish you a wonderful semester break. May you have safe traveling, happy gatherings and enough rest and relaxation to return with renewed enthusiasm.

Sarah Wilkey
FRC & FGSH Coordinator

Help OSU
Conserve
Energy

Some things to remember during the holiday season:

• Consider electricity usage when purchasing home electronics for yourself or as gifts.
• In the average home, 75 percent of the electricity used to power home electronics is consumed while the products are turned off.
• Unplug the appliance or use a power strip and use the switch on the power strip to cut all power to the appliance.
• Use energy-efficient LED holiday lights, which use 10 percent of the energy of mini-lights.
• Turn off your holiday lights before you go to bed, or consider installing timers to reduce the amount of time your holiday lights are on.
• 10 strands lit for 13 hours a day can add more than $50 to a monthly energy bill.

Where Your Story Began: Winning Stories

Venkata Swapna

I am Venkata Swapna, a Ph.D. student in department of biochemistry and molecular biology. I completed my masters in India in biochemistry. My association with Oklahoma State University began in fall 2009, our family moved from India to Stillwater, Okla. to attend OSU as a graduate student in the biochemistry department. My husband and I selected OSU from two other universities based on a better campus life for our family and we are never disappointed because of the lovely people around. We thought it would be an awesome place to raise our children.

We need to stay for atleast five years we decided to live on campus. For two years we have lived in OSU family housing which made life easier. As my husband and I are graduate students we are able to make it successfully and raise two children with help of our mentors, friends and FGSH/FRC. My oldest son enjoys the after school activities at the FRC, this gives us more time to concentrate on our work. ”All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.” If we are bored with our never ending experiments in the lab we enjoy going around Stillwater, Boomer Lake and Theta Pond with our son. We love to attend women’s night, couples night, family night or participate in competitions at the FRC whenever time permits. This helps us to rejuvenate for our daily lab work and helps to meet people of diverse cultures. We are happy that we found a home away from home; we plan to settle here after our graduate studies, I want my children to grow up as cowboys on this beautiful campus.

Patricia Coutinho de Souza

Exactly two years ago, I took the flight to Tulsa, Okla. which would change my life forever. Destiny or coincidence? I do not know. In 2009, I came from Brazil to the U.S. to participate in the American Association of Zoo Veterinarians conference in Tulsa to present my masters degree results. During the conference, I met people from around the world. Two days before my oral presentation, my new international friends invited me to try the famous American hamburger. I hesitated for a while because I wanted to review my presentation, but I could not resist this interesting experience. When we were in the restaurant, my friends told me that there was a Resident of Veterinary Pathology from Oklahoma State University. We started to talk and I told her I was applying for a Ph.D. in Veterinary Pathology at several American universities. Unfortunately, due to the world’s economic crisis the positions available decreased, I was still trying and did not give up.

Then, she invited me to go to the OSU Veterinary College in Stillwater, Okla. to introduce myself to the professors. After my presentation in the conference, I went to Stillwater and spoke with all the veterinary pathologists there. I was so amazed by the physical structure and faculty, I asked for the possibility of an Externship. Five months later I came back to Stillwater to do the training and decided to apply again for the Ph.D. position, fortunately I passed and here I am! Was it just a coincidence of time or more than coincidence? What do you think? I still do not know. However, I learned that we should enjoy all life’s opportunities and the simple things can be the most extraordinary and transform our lives forever.

Need a break from Studying and the Cold Weather?

Warm up with these recipes!

Pumpkin Chocolate Chip Cookies

- 1 15oz. can pumpkin
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup oil
- 1 egg
- 2 cup flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- Nuts (optional)

Preheat oven to 375°F. Dissolve baking soda in milk; set aside. In a large bowl add pumpkin, sugar, oil, and egg; stir. Add flour, baking powder, cinnamon, salt and baking soda mixture. Mix well. Stir in chocolate chips and vanilla. Spoon by the tablespoon onto cookie sheet. Bake at 375°F for 10 to 12 minutes or until done.

Homemade Hot Chocolate

- 1 tbsp. cocoa powder
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 2 tbsp. water
- 1 cup milk
- (a bit of vanilla, if desired)

Combine cocoa, sugar, and water in a small saucepan. Heat it on low heat, stirring occasionally to prevent the paste from sticking to the pan. After about 1 to 2 minutes, add milk and vanilla. Mix it all together until it reaches your preferred temperature.

FRC Christmas Around the World

Christmas Around the World is an event for the whole community! While there will be games for children and families, we encourage the entire FGSH community to participate. It will be at the FRC on Saturday, Dec. 10 from 6 to 9pm. Everyone is invited to join the FRC staff to experience a variety of holiday activities from all over the globe.

Pancakes at the FRC

Take a break from studying from finals by joining us at the FRC for free pancakes! We will be serving pancakes, milk, juice and coffee the week of finals. The FRC will be Pancake Central every night starting Sunday, Dec. 11 through Wednesday, Dec. 14 from 10pm to midnight.(Apt. 71-11)

Experience a winter wonderland at Woolaroc!

Join us Sunday, Dec. 18 for a trip to the Woolaroc Museum and Wildlife Preserve to view the area and enjoy an evening in Woolaroc’s Wonderland of Lights. We will meet at the FRC at 12:30pm for the trip and will not return until later in the evening. Adults and children over age 3 must sign up at the FRC to attend this event. No children under the age of 3 may ride in the chartered buses due to the length of time we will be gone on this trip. If you would like to follow the OSU buses in your family car, you are welcome to, but please let Sarah at the FRC know you are planning to do so. Red Rock catered box dinners will be provided with veggie, turkey, and child salad options. Transportation, admission and box dinner fees are provided for by the FRC. Residents may sign up on a first come, first serve basis.
